

N.B. There is no part of this tract that adjoins Benedict Rennels.

The above is a draught of a survey made June 7th 1816, in pursuance of a warrant granted Samuel Hughes for 120 acres, dated December 7th 1813, situate on the waters of Chartiers creek, in Straban township, Washington County, containing one hundred and twelve acres and Sixty eight perches with the usual allowance. This tract has been improved since April 1st 1813 and a constant resident settlement kept up ever since - there are no opposing claims what ever. In consequence of this survey having been frequently returned on my hands, it has been resurveyed not long since and the contents found as above, being nearly the same as before. I have understood that Benedict Rennels has entered a Caveat against it, but he declared to me not long since, that he had altogether given up his claim. You readily see that the Boundants are not precisely the same that are specified in the application, as is frequently the case, the exact boundary not being known at the time of application. Should you not be pleased with this return, I confess I know not how to make one more satisfactory, as there is no person contending for the land.
