

The larger Tract of Land, included within the black lines, in the above Draft, Containing Ninety-five acres and Eighty-Six perches and the allowance. Surveyed to Leonard Knecht, on his Poll-Deed from his Father, Leonard Knecht, the elder deceased and for which he is now desirous to have his Patent: It is part of Two Tracts, returned for Leonard Knecht in the names of Andrew Kline & Henry Feidner. See returns. The lessor Tract on the above Draft Containing Twenty five acres and forty-five perches, being also part of the Kline & Feidner Tracts, also Surveyed to Leonard Knecht, who being the Executor of his fathers last Will & Testament, and in Trust for the heirs of said deceased, and for which he is desirous to have a Patent accordingly; he having already sold the same agreeably to the order of said Will. The dotted lines Show the division between the Kline & Feidner Tracts.
