

of which his interest was entirely neglected until John Laughlin settled upon the land at which time he the said Joseph set up a claim on account of his Uncles warrant, but not being able to procure a sufficient interest therein he gave up the pursuit. The said Joseph McNutt showed me where the cabin stood which is called for in the warrant the remains of which is yet to be seen it is included in the survey now made. The survey of Laughlin is owned by the widow and children of the said John Laughlin decd and is in their occupancy.
