

considered as personal property it may be held by the Will under the words vested directly and to him - The father died before whether it says by Will or not if it is concerned as mere personal property a bequest - it will belong to the mother and her two sons Matthew & John only children of the decease the if it is conveyed to the decease then that bequest is the decease and vested to it - It is vested to as of the decease of James Bequest in the decease of William Bequest he can have no advantage from it if he be really the decease and - that that it may be necessary to put him the hands of James Bequest
