Samuel Laycount

Lancaster County

THE Twentieth Day of July Anno Dom. 1792
before me the undersigned one of the justices of peace for the county of Lancaster personally came Samuel Laycount and on his solemn oath agreeably to law, did depose and say, that the property expressed in the within letter of attorney by his free will and consent, for a valuable consideration, to him in hand paid, was transferred to the attorney within named, that he has not conveyed the whole or any part thereof, before the execution of the said letter of attorney, and desireth that the same may be recorded as such: and farther this deponent faith not.
