- W2-b. 32. AWARDS for DAMAGES Retained - Percentage of Contractors

This volume consists of two, unrelated parts: the first part, the pages of which are unnumbered, presents in chronologically arranged columns, from June 1834 to September 1842, the names of claimants for damages along the several divisions of The Pennsylvania Canal, with the award to each; the second part, also on pages unnumbered, presents an abstract containing "the names of Contractors that abandoned their work and to whom forfeited percentage is due, the sums set opposite their respective names, the amount in full awarded to them, also the division, etc. on which the work was to be done, the date of the award, and by whom it is to be paid. And also allowances for extra work done, etc." The dates of award are commonly in 1836-1838, with a few entries for 1839.
